It's almost dark, the stars skip about,
The party has started without a doubt.
They creep down the path where the Story House grows,
Perhaps Miss Cricket will know where to go?

What an amazing sight at Lulu's Lair –
Such wonderful treasures piled everywhere!
They search high and low and quick as a wink,
Find the prettiest thing – something that's PLINK!

‘Your majesty,’ said Fairy, ‘we must declare,
these pretty things we found to share.
We really hope you can excuse,
Our freckled frocks and grubby shoes...’

Just in time!

‘Oh my, you are two speckled messes,
But never mind your dirty dresses.
Your smiles,’ said the Fairy Queen,
‘are the prettiest things I’ve ever seen!’
